DEFENSE STAFF HANDLES "BOMB RAID" IN COUNTY

Heavy casualties and big fires resulted Wednesday evening when Adams county was showered with incendiary, gas and demolition bombs from imaginary enemy planes during the county's participation in a bi-weekly test problem for civilian defense staffs at county and local control centers throughout the state.

The county and community staffs handled the emergency in such an efficient manner as to win the praise of J. C. Lester Bryant, Washington, Pa., new chief air raid warden for the state, who dropped in unexpectedly at the county control center in the court house basement and watched county civilian defense officials meet their problems.

The state chief also offered suggestions to the county council staff on technical details in the handling of the fictitious emergency.

Secrecy surrounded preparations for the test and only the chief of each control center knew the general outline for the events that were to take place during the alert from 7:30 to 9:30 p. m.

"Covered by Bombs"

Apparently well pleased with the results of the test, a spokesman for the county council said this morning:

"The raid demonstrated that Adams county has adequate fire protection and will be able to take care of most of its own refugees excepting in most unusual circumstances."

"Arrangements were made for Wednesday night's test on the assumption that the entire county was to be covered by bombs—incendiary, gas and demolition. Each of the larger communities was called upon to make full use of all its facilities. The county control center was to be advised of local needs that could not be met so that county facilities could be used and if they were not adequate to call upon the state for aid."

Gather Full Reports

Actual phone calls were made reporting the incidents to community control centers as the problem got underway and reports and requests for aid were sent to the county control center. The county had to ask aid of the state and telephone calls were made to the state control center at Harrisburg asking principally

COUNTY NEARS QUOTA IN ITS JULY BOND SALE

Adams county is expected to "go over the top" in its purchases of Series "E" war bonds during the month of July, according to Edmund W. Thomas, chairman of the county committee, who announced sales during the third quarter of last month this morning.

Third quarter sales totaled $17,698, Mr. Thomas said, bringing the total for the first three quarters of July to $103,685. This is only $12,284 short of the month's quota of $115,969.

"I feel confident that the fourth quarter sales will boost us over the top again," Mr. Thomas commented. Figures for the fourth quarter are expected to be announced some time next week as soon as the work of compiling the county figures is completed at the Third Federal Reserve Bank in Philadelphia.

Sales of Series "F" bonds during the third quarter of July totaled $370 it was announced and sales of "G" bonds totaled $16,000. This makes a grand total of $34,068 worth of the three series of bonds during the first three quarters of July.

"E" bond sales during the third quarter were divided into the following districts:

4 OPA Agents Attend Local Meeting; Little Interest

The Harrisburg district office of the OPA sent three men and a woman attorney to Gettysburg Wednesday evening with a sound film and the necessary equipment to explain Maximum Price Regulation No. 423 to a gathering of 30 persons in the court house. The group included retailers, and representatives of the price panels of the two rationing boards in the county.

The grocers saw pictures of booklets and bulletins containing the regulations and tables to be used in figuring their mark-ups on articles not listed in the community dollars and cents ceiling price lists already published. There were no forms for distribution Wednesday evening but the OPA officials said they felt sure supplies of the necessary papers would be available soon at the rationing board offices.

After Herbert Abell spent 15 minutes describing the "very simple" new regulations and the 28-minute film was shown, two grocers asked questions and the meeting was adjourned.

One OPA man set up the sound movie equipment, another operated it and the two remaining OPA representatives handled the questions from the two grocers. There appeared to be little interest in the meeting.

The group included Mr. Abell, Samuel Price, D. R. Wheeler and Miss Rose Daniels, all of the price regulation division.

The meeting adjourned at 8:40 o'clock after getting a late start.

HARTMAN LISTS MEASURES FOR BORER CONTROL

Eight control measures against the European corn borer, destructive pest that has invaded Adams county fields and gardens, are listed in special letters being mailed this week from the office of County Agent M. T. Hartman at the court house to 3,000 farmers in the county.

The first brood of borers already has caused damage throughout the county while the second brood may be expected before the middle of September, the county agent said.

Insecticides have proved to be impractical as a control measure, Mr. Hartman explains to the farmers, before listing eight "practical and economical" steps which should be taken on a county-wide basis to produce results:

Control Measures

His suggestions follow:

1. Cut field corn low.
2. Put all corn possible into the silo.
3. Shred all stover or destroy by burning or plowing into the soil.
4. Plow down short stubble in late fall or early spring.
5. Pole down high stubble and standing stalks in winter when ground is frozen and bare, rake up and burn refuse or plow under in spring.
6. Clean up all corn refuse and other pithy stem plants by burning or plowing under before May 1.
7. Destroy early sweet corn stalks by reeding, putting into silage or plowing them under within two weeks after the ears have been harvested.
8. Community effort is necessary if the corn borer population is to be held at a minimum. Therefore, encourage your neighbor to help fight this insect pest.

"This insect has a tremendous power of reproduction and is, therefore, capable of doing serious damage," Mr. Hartman writes. "They infest the tassels, ears and stalk and can cause heavy financial loss as well as making the broken stalks difficult to harvest."

Second Year Here

"Besides field and sweet corn, there are large numbers of other plants that the corn borer may live on. In short, it may be said that they attack almost any plant with a pithy stem. This includes many plants of field crops, vegetables, wild flowers, weeds and flower garden stalks, too."

"Probably the best way to recognize the presence of corn borers is by looking for broken-over tassels with brownish-yellow 'sawdust' hanging from a hole at the point of breakage. Some feed on the surface and mid-rib of the leaves and then bore into the stalk, usually at a joint or node. The tunneling action of the worms in the stalk weakens it so that in many cases the stalk will break."

The corn borer was found in Pennsylvania first in 1919 in Erie county. The first authentic record of it in this county was made last year.

Crisis Near As Italians Cry "Peace" And "Work"

By FRANK BRUTTO
Bern, Switzerland, Aug. 5 (AP)—Announcement that the Italian government would meet today to examine "important measures" again stirred the hopes of the Italian people that steps would be taken to remove them from the war.

(Associated Press dispatches from London said the British looked for the meeting to bring an answer to the Italian people's cries for peace and Germany's demands that Italy stay in the war.)

(A National Broadcasting company correspondent in Bern reported the Italian foreign minister, Raffaele Guariglia, had drafted peace proposals containing among other conditions that no Allied troops come into the country except for control purposes and that the peninsula be "neutralized." Guariglia's proposal was said to be up for consideration at today's cabinet meeting.)

"We Want Peace"

A Swiss correspondent in Milan said an air of desperation had settled on the Italian people and signs were scribbled on walls at night reading:

"Death to Badoglio and the king."

"We want peace and work."

"The Germans must get out of Italy."

Cardinal Maglione, papal secretary of state, meanwhile convoked an extraordinary session of the 16 Cardinals now in Rome for the apostolic purpose, said the Corriere Della Sera of Milan, of discussing questions connected with the international situation.

Much Activity

At the same time a constant stream of ambassadors, ministers, apostolic nuncios and other diplomats was reported flowing in and out of the foreign office in Rome, lending credence to the belief that some important development was in the offing.

The Lavora Italiano, taking a different tack than that of the past two days, when the press on orders from Premier Badoglio warned the Italian people that "the war must go on," today declared the sessions of the British cabinet held last Tuesday "have been interpreted in many capitals as a prelude to an eventual armistice."

The newspaper said the position of Italy and her Allies was "very fluid and very dangerous" in a moment when "the voices of the diplomats should be raised."

Half Hour Strikes

Reports from Italian frontier towns said that half hour strikes were continuing in Milan and in factories in other industrial cities in northern Italy as a protest against the government's insistence that the war must be continued.

Rome dispatches reported that Minister of Corporations Leopoldo Piccardi has declared that the cooperative system established by the Fascist party must be dissolved, branding it "an expedient imposed by the Fascists for ideological rather than propaganda reasons."

To Seize Riches

Another development reported from Rome today was the establishment of a commission to investigate the riches that Fascist officeholders were reported to have acquired between October 22, 1922, and July 14, 1943, during the reign of Fascism. Fortunes irregularly obtained, it was said, will be confiscated by the state.

The possibility was seen that one of the hardest hit may be Galeazzo Ciano, Benito Mussolini's son-in-law, and former foreign minister. Ciano reportedly is one of the richest men in Italy, having built up a huge personal fortune through real estate manipulations and other deals while he was in office.

LOCAL SOLDIER WED SATURDAY

Sergeant Walter T. Dunbar, former Gettysburg life insurance agent and son of Mrs. Mary Dunbar, Newville, now stationed at Camp Barkley, Texas, and Miss Myrtle V. McDonald, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel A. McDonald, Newville, were united in marriage last Saturday evening at 8 o'clock in the First Church of God in Newville.

The ceremony was performed by the Rev. S. Eber Vance of Wormleysburg and the Rev. John Lincoln Weaver, Newville.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, was attended by Miss Mildred P. Jacoby. The best man was Paul E. Stum of Newville.

The bride's gown was of white satin and chiffon with three-quarter length sleeves. Her fingertip veil was fastened with a coronet of orange blossoms. She carried a white Bible with orchids and baby's breath. Miss Jacoby wore a delicate shade of yellow organdie and carried roses to match her gown. The mothers of the bride and groom wore corsages of white roses and baby's breath.

Bride Is Teacher

A recital by Mrs. Paul E. Stum preceded the ceremony. Mrs. Stum also played the wedding march and recessional. The church was decorated with gladioli, baby's breath, palms and candles.

A reception followed at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Walter W. Pickles, Newville, brother-in-law and sister of the bride.

Mrs. Dunbar is a teacher in the second grade of the Newville public schools. She is a graduate of the Newville high school and of the Shippensburg State Teachers' college. She took post graduate work at Duke university.

Red Cross Asks For More Books

The county Red Cross today urged all owners of elementary school books of the four to six-year levels to donate the books to the Red Cross to be shipped to hospitals of the U. S. armed forces.

The books will be used for re-education purposes for service men. There is also a definite need for instructors' books covering the primary grades, it was stated. The books may be turned in at the office of the county Red Cross in the court house.

Local Cadets Are Feted At Dinner

Aircrew students of the class which recently completed its flight and ground training at Gettysburg college and will soon depart for further training at other U. S. Air Force schools were feted Wednesday evening at a dinner at the Hotel Gettysburg.

Over 100 cadets and guests attended the affair marking completion of the work of the class of students.

Captain John R. Coshey, Lieut. J. R. Floyd and Donald Heiges gave short talks in which they commended the outgoing soldiers for their fine work while here and urged them to "so conduct themselves that they bring credit upon all of the classes that will follow them."

Aircrew student Dante Massaro acted as master of ceremonies.

Lieutenants F. H. Wilcox, Homer E. Tabler, Jr., and J. C. Young were also guests of the cadets at the dinner.

Maj. E. J. Nowicki Completes Course

Rooms, commanding officer of the First Student Training Regiment to which Maj. Nowicki was assigned prior to entering school.

Maj. Nowicki is a graduate of Gettysburg college. His wife is the former Miss Christine Meyer, of Gettysburg.

You Bad Boy

Philadelphia, August 5 (AP)—Robert D. Eisengraber, 25, of Minneapolis, Minnesota, said he would have notified his draft board of a change of address if he hadn't been:

- Torpedoed twice on cargo ships.
- Adrift eight days in a life-boat.
- Doused into the sea again when the rescue ship capsized in a tidal wave.
- Flown to India and then back to this country—where a warrant charging draft evasion awaited him.

U. S. District Judge George A. Welsh permitted Eisengraber to sign his own bond for $250 to appear at another hearing next week.

Garments Serving Men In Two Wars

The much-traveled sweater and muffler presented by Roy Enoch, West Middle street, has continued its travels, started during the first World war, on into the second World war, the local Red Cross office learned today.

The muffler and sweater were made by a New Jersey chapter of the Red Cross in 1917 and presented to Mr. Enoch when he went overseas that year. He wore them through the war and then kept them until some time ago. At that time he turned the sweater and muffler over to the local Red Cross to be given to some soldier. Today the local chapter learned the sweater and muffler had been given to a Chaplain Hohen who was starting for foreign duty in the northwest Pacific area.

NAZI ANCHOR IS SMASHED BY RED TROOPS

By HENRY C. CASSIDY
Moscow, Aug. 5 (AP)—The battle for the stronghold of Orel reached its blazing climax today with the Red Army fighting its way through the streets of the city to complete the reconquest of its first major objective of 1943, and signs of danger to other exposed sections of the German lines in Russia appeared immediately.

(The German high command announced that Orel was evacuated last night after all stores had been removed and all military factories methodically destroyed. It claimed the withdrawal had been planned "quite some time.")

Next Blow Soon

Where the Russians would strike next after the elimination of the Orel salient remained their own military secret, but there was no doubt here that the Red Army soon would strike again.

Russian forces have edged forward on both sides of the enemy's Kharkov salient and are improving their positions near Belgorod and southwest of Voroshilovgrad. The Germans have begun to show signs of uncertainty where they should cling to their defenses around Smolensk in the central or Moscow sector.

(The German communique said the Russians launched a series of violent counterattacks yesterday against newly-won German positions north of Kuibyshev on the Mius river front, but said every thrust was thrown back with heavy losses. It said the Soviets also were continuing their attacks on the middle Donets and in the Belgorod area.)

Mopping Up

The Germans were reported offering stubborn resistance as they were driven through the wrecked streets of Orel, but it was regarded merely as a rear guard defense for the main body of retreating forces.

Red Army Infantry storming from the hills east of Orel swept across the Oka river and were reported mopping up the enemy's rear guards block by block.

Frontline dispatches said the Germans still were offering bitter resistance northwest and southwest of Orel in an effort to cover the retreat of the main body of their troops through the bottleneck to the west.

Blast Rear Line

The Soviet Army newspaper Red Star declared the Nazis had stepped up their rear-line firepower in those areas, virtually doubling the number of guns for each mile of the front, and were counter-attacking with groups of 15 to 25 tanks.

Soviet bombers, however, were reported blasting at the enemy's support lines and main bases behind the Orel salient, concentrating on the communications—center of Bryansk, Nikitovka, Yasinovataya and Ilovaiskaya behind the Kharkov front and Mga on the Leningrad front also were subjected to heavy air attacks.

(The Berlin radio announced last night that Nazi forces had evacuated Orel. Describing the retreat as an "evacuation according to plan," the announcement said German forces had taken up previously prepared positions behind the city after destroying everything of value.)

The Russian announcement that the city's inner defenses had cracked after 24 days of savage fighting, during which Soviet armored units, infantry and cavalry stormed them from three directions, listed vast stores of ammunition and guns as captured.

More than 2,500 Germans were killed and 18 enemy tanks were knocked out as the Germans fought bitterly and even counter-attacked in desperate attempts to check the Red Army masses pouring into the city's streets, a Soviet communique said.

Orel, which had a normal population of 91,000 had been fortified extensively with the hedge-hog system of defense since it was occupied by the German Army on October 8, 1941. It is the hinge and key defense position of the long south-central German line extending to the Sea of Azov, and its recapture would reopen vital railway lines.

BRITISH BEAT DEFIANT FOE; PUSH AHEAD

By DANIEL DE LUCE
Allied Headquarters in North Africa, Aug. 5 (AP)—British Eighth Army troops seized Catania early today and swept around the base of Mt. Etna to the northwest capturing Paterno, 10 miles away, to crumble the German line on the east coast of Sicily, headquarters announced.

Catania fell to the Eighth Army at 8:30 a. m. (2:30 a. m., Eastern War Time) today, after a bitter defense since July 15, and the British pounded ahead in a lightning advance clock-wise around the base of Mt. Etna.

German Heart Broken

The heart of the German Army corps appeared to be broken.

Paterno is 10 miles northwest of Catania, and it was assumed that Misterbianco, three miles northwest of Catania, also had been engulfed.

German withdrawal of non-essential personnel from Sicily has been in progress for the last five or six days, it was learned authoritatively.

The German defense road around Mt. Etna was blasted apart by the British successes today and the next German line was expected to run from Taormina across the northeastern tip of the island to the seacoast on the northeast behind San Fratello, which already is menaced by U. S. Seventh Army troops.

Perilous Position

This would mean abandonment of the whole Mt. Etna area by the Axis.

The whole German left flank based on the heights of Mt. Etna was in grave danger from the British success achieved after terrific and incessant combat since the giant Allied offensive on the entire Sicilian front began on Sunday.

Pressed back from the western edge of the Catania plain and smothered under a furious, massed artillery barrage that continued day and night, the German line around bomb and fire-scarred Catania broke early today.

Entire Line Advances

Catania was taken despite strong enemy resistance, a special communique said.

The Allied advance continued all along the front, headquarters said, as American, Canadian and British troops drove the Germans back toward their last escape port of Messina, 55 miles north of Catania, and tremendous aerial and sea blows were hammered home in support of the great drive.

Ships Shell Road

British warships rained shells upon the Taormina road and railway midway between Catania and Messina yesterday, giving that exposed communication center what was believed to be its heaviest bombardment yet.

American cruisers and destroyers ranging the northeast coast continued their day and night shelling of German positions ahead of the American Seventh Army troops swinging rapidly along the coast beyond San Stefano.

From the air, Allied bombers and fighters swept over enemy communication centers and supply lines to disrupt the German defense. Flying Fortresses again smashed at docks and submarine bases at Naples, in the fourth raid in four days and the "target was well covered by bombs," an air communique reported.

Battle For Messina

The battle of Catania ended and the battle for Messina began for all along the enemy's mountainous bridgehead British and American forces plunged forward for new gains.

The British by their continued bombardments of Taormina acted to paralyze if not cut the Germans' east coast supply—and retreat—route.

The enemy's line of retreat from Catania is a three mile wide corridor between the mountains and the sea and in that harsh, rugged strip there are a number of points where he might attempt a stand.

Catania's capture in effect turned the German flank on the east coast and the British surged ahead on the slopes of Mt. Etna facing the sea.

FALL OF OREL AND CATANIA DEATH PUNCH TO AXIS PLAN

By DEWITT MACKENZIE

A couple more stout spikes have been driven into the coffin of Hitlerism in the capture of two highly strategic cities—the fall of Orel on the flaming Russian front, and the fall of ancient Catania in the north-east corner of Sicily.

Both these cities were vital anchor points for the Nazis. The heavily fortified and strongly held railway center of Orel has for almost two years been the hinge for Hitler's great battle line between this point, not far below Moscow, and the Sea of Azov.

Catania, crouching under the great volcano of Etna, has been the powerful position to which the Nazis and Italians hooked the left wing of the front which they threw across the last remaining tip of northeast Sicily in defense of Messina and access to the Italian mainland, only two miles across the strait from that port.

Mighty Pincers

These two operations, while widely separated and seemingly having little relation to each other, are parts of offensives which in reality are acting as a pair of mighty pincers on the German front in Russia. This is so because (1) if the Russians have the reserve power with which to follow up their notable capture of Orel, it will endanger Hitler's entire right wing, and because (2) victory in Sicily brings the Allies nearer to possible invasion of the Balkans, which would further jeopardize that Nazi right wing.

In short Hitler is being pushed steadily towards that day when he will have to pull back his entire vast line of more than a thousand miles in Russia in order to reach new positions which will afford greater security.

While this is a historic moment for the Allies, we should remember that these two captures are parts of continuing operations. Fierce fighting lies ahead in both theaters.

Hard Fought Ahead

In Sicily the terrain within the remaining triangle which the Axis forces are defending is rugged and hilly. It's well adapted to defense and has been strongly fortified. There are said to be close to 100,000 Axis troops assigned to the desperate task of holding this "last ditch," something more than half of them being Germans.

Thus we have the makings of a great battle among the innumerable hilly strongholds, many of which probably will have to be taken at the point of the bayonet—assuming that the Axis forces don't fold up, and there's been no indication of this yet among the Germans. Ultimately the enemy must surrender or be annihilated, for there is no escape from this triangular trap for the vast majority of the Axis troops.

It's too soon to assay the full import of the Red capture of Orel. The cracking of this major fortress represents one of the great victories of the war. Into it have gone the lives of many scores of thousands of fighting men of both Germany and Russia.

Titanic Struggle

Incidentally, it's only ten days ago that I received a letter from an anonymous Nazi sympathizer, signing himself "a soldier," who took me to task for saying that the indications were the Reds would take Orel. He said it was a preposterous suggestion, and sang the praises of the Boche. There are a lot of these fifth columnists still about.

The fighting which has preceded this victory has been titanic—reminiscent of the struggle at Stalingrad. The Russians drove forward, in the face of the best defense which Hitler could muster, until they all but had Orel surrounded. Complete encirclement would have meant the annihilation of a Nazi force of some 250,000 men, but it would appear that the German command has been able to withdraw many of them.

Orel not only is a strong point, but it is a vital railway center. Its capture will enable the Russians to reopen vital rail communications between Moscow and the southern sectors.

The ultimate effect of the fall of Orel might be catastrophic for the Germans, if the Russians have the strength to develop it. However, this is no time to jump to sweeping conclusions.

for medical aid and additional help with decontamination and demolition work.

Each participating center in the county submitted reports to the county center. In addition to the information telephoned to Harrisburg, Wednesday night, a full report and its solution of the test problem and its results will be forwarded to the state staff by mail.

In Gettysburg, the control center at the engine house was showered with emergency calls as designated wardens reported major incidents in their areas.

Plants Destroyed

At 8:28 p. m., the borough staff, already on duty and ready for action, received a call from Warden Arthur Phiel that the Reaser furniture factory had been destroyed by high explosive bombs. Some gas was present and the entire area was reported on fire.

A minute later a call came telling the staff that the O'Sullivan Rubber company plant on North Washington street had been leveled with high explosives and many casualties had resulted among the employees on the night shift. Some gas also was reported there and fires were raging.

An identical report came from the area of the Gettysburg Throwing company where heavy casualties also were reported among the employees and at 8:31 o'clock, wardens telephoned to say that Gettysburg college campus was suffering from an attack of persistent gas.

Convenient South Wind

Police, first aid, evacuation, medical, utility, demolition and decontamination units snapped into action.

Casualty, fire, gas and demolition crews were dispatched immediately to the stricken areas. Other available wardens were called to aid with the work in the bombed areas.

Evacuees and injured from the O'Sullivan bombing were cared for in the high school building. Those from the Throwing company area were quartered in the seminary. With members of the 55th College Training Detachment aiding, casualties and evacuees from the gas-infected college area were removed. The injured were taken to the Sigma Chi and Phi Sigma Kappa fraternity houses and the McPherson home while other evacuees were herded into a block between Carlisle and North Stratton street where they were out of danger of the persistent gas being blown toward the brickyard area by a brisk south-east breeze.

Fourth Problem Here

The solution of the problem was complete by 9 o'clock and at 9:15 p. m., Borough Defense Chairman LeRoy H. Winebrenner handed the written report to the county staff at the court house. Other centers reported by telephone. Gettysburg had to ask the county for aid with demolition work for the National Park Service squad already was occupied here with other bombed areas not being cared for in that respect. Wednesday night's test problem was the fourth in which the entire Gettysburg control center staff has participated. A different type of emergency is presented each time. Wednesday's problem was the most elaborate and involved yet encountered in the tests which are conducted semi-monthly on Wednesday evenings.

Spaatz Comments 223 Of Air Force

Washington, Aug. 5 (AP)—Lt. Gen. Carl A. Spaatz of Boyertown, Pa., commanding general of the Northwest African Air Force, has commended 223 members of an Army Air Force Troop Carrier Command, many of them Pennsylvanians, for doing a "brilliant job" in the invasion of Sicily.

The group transported hundreds of paratroops to the island on the night of July 9 without the loss of a plane, the War department said.

Pennsylvanians in the group included First Lieut. Charles Lazin, Lebanon; First Lieut. Joe T. Luke, Lash; First Lieut. Robert E. Sawyer, Apollo; Tech. Sgt. John A. Stevig, Elizabethtown, and Technical Sgt. George A. Heffner, Mahanoy City.

DECISION DELAYED

Justice of the Peace John H. Bashore withheld for one week his decision in the case brought against Earl W. Guise, Gettysburg R. 4, by state police following a collision between his truck and a car on the Emmitsburg road, Monday evening. The hearing was held Wednesday evening on a charge of making an improper turn.

LETTERS COME FROM MAN NOW LISTED MISSING

"I'm going to be awfully busy for a little while—so if you don't hear from me for some time don't be worried," with those words in a letter sent to his parents, June 26, Pvt. Eugene William Shelleman, apparently hinted to his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Louis E. Shelleman, near Hampton, that his unit, "somewhere in the South Pacific" was going into action.

The letter was received by Mr. and Mrs. Shelleman this week, about two weeks after they had had word from the War department that their son was "missing in action" since July 2.

Two letters have been received by Mr. and Mrs. Shelleman since their son the War department that their son the letters were dated June 26.

In a letter addressed to his father, Pvt. Shelleman said he "had just attended a movie" and urged his father not to work too hard. Greetings to all of his friends were contained in the letter. A letter to his mother concerning some money he had sent home contained the reference to being busy and that he might not be able to write for some time.

Mother Writing Weekly

Since the telegram stating that Pvt. Shelleman was lost no further word has been sent his parents giving any details of the action in which he was apparently engaged or in what part of the Pacific theater he was assigned.

With the hope that in some way the letter may get through, his mother has written a letter to the young soldier with the hope that if he has been captured by the Japanese the letter may still get through to him. "And I plan to write every week," she told a Gettysburg Times reporter, "until I know definitely that the letters cannot reach him. I could not stand it otherwise."

Private Shelleman, 23-year-old father of a one-year-old child, has been in service since May, 1942. He went overseas about nine months ago.

YANK TROOPS CLOSE IN ON JAPS IN MUNDA

(The Associated Press)

American troops broke through a long, covered Japanese trench on the southern fringe of Munda air base today and threatened to cut off the enemy's last route of escape, while on the New Guinea front Allied vanguards were reported battling within five miles of the big Japanese bastion at Salamaua.

Dispatches from Gen. Douglas MacArthur's headquarters said U.S. infantrymen were fighting at close quarters with the Japanese in the climactic assault on Munda. The battle was described as slow-moving and violent, with the Japanese powerfully entrenched in jungle underbrush and chalk caves.

Threaten Escape Route

A spokesman at Admiral William F. Halsey's headquarters said the capture of Bibolo and Kokengolo hills, guarding the northwest approach to Munda, was expected momentarily and that a drive beyond these positions would crush the enemy's last hope of retreat to another part of the island.

The Japanese air force, which lost 345 planes trying to stem the Solomon offensive in July, lost 13 more aircraft yesterday when 18 Zeros were sent against American-held Rendova island, five miles from Munda.

On the New Guinea front, Allied headquarters announced that "forward ground elements" were locked in sharp fighting with the enemy five miles south of Salamaua. In Burma, RAF warplanes, fighting their way through heavy monsoon rains, blasted the Japanese bases at Mawlaik and Kalamyo and machine-gunned enemy troops.

Corn Prices Won't Go Up, Says OPA

Repeating earlier assertions that there will be no increase in the ceiling price of corn, the Harrisburg district office of the OPA today told farmers they cannot expect to profit by holding their 1942 corn for higher prices on the legitimate market.

Many inquiries have been received recently at the Harrisburg office about the ceiling price of 1942 winter corn. The ceiling has been established at $1.16 per bushel for No. 2 yellow corn in the Pennsylvania area, it was pointed out.

The OPA reports that various sources have indicated farmers have been withholding last winter's corn from the market because they expect an increase in prices but the OPA is of the opinion that the delay in the marketing of the corn is due to the late spring and the shortage of farm help.

By October 1, the bulk of the 1943 crop will have been marketed, the OPA believes, and it is the intent of the enforcement division of the government agency to have the corn marketed at the ceiling price.

TEN OR MORE HURLERS MAY WIN 20 TILTS

By TED MEIER
The Associated Press

The major leagues may be able to boast of 10 or more 20-game winning pitchers this year compared to only four in 1942.

Where only Mort Cooper, Johnny Beazley, Ernie Bonham and Tex Hughson were able to make the grade a year ago, five twirlers already seem certain of reaching the coveted 20-game goal with 10 others having better than an even chance.

Topped, of course, by the veteran 35-year-old Rip Sewell of the Pittsburgh Pirates, the National League claims four of the five twirlers virtually certain of winning 20 games. Sewell has won 17 and lost two. Cooper, Cardinal ace, has a record of 15-6. Elmer Riddle, of Cincinnati, with 14-5, and Bill Hithorn, of the Cubs, with 13-8, round out the senior loop quartet.

3 in American

Spud Chandler, of the New York Yankees, is the only American league pitcher within whistling distance of the charmed circle. He has won 13 and lost three.

Bonham, who won 21 for the Yankees last year, and Hughson, who was credited with 22 for the Boston Red Sox in 1942, each have a chance to repeat. Big Ernie has won 10 and lost five for the Yanks; Hughson has chalked up 11 wins against seven setbacks.

Pittsburgh came up with four runs in the seventh inning to beat the Phillies 6 to 2 in the only game played in either league yesterday.

Vince DiMaggio's 13th homer of the season, coming with one man on base, capped the uprising and gave Max Baer his sixth win of the year.

Schoolboy Rowe, trying for his 10th win, hooked up in a pitching duel with Butcher for six innings, but retired after the sixth because of a sore arm. Al Gernsheuser replaced him and was the losing pitcher although DiMaggio connected for his roundtripper off Newt Kimball.

The victory tightened the Pirates' grip on second place.

LEFTY GEORGE TO START ALL- STAR CONTEST

(By The Associated Press)

Nomination of ancient Lefty George as a starting hurler in the Interstate league's all-star game at Wilmington Monday night promises to add additional color to the intra-loop classic.

George, who at 57 years has won six and lost four tilts for the York White Roses this season, was given the assignment for the western team last night by Woody Wheaton, manager of the Lancaster Red Roses, who will pilot the club. Dutch Dorman, of Wilmington, manager of the Eastern stars, has not decided on a hurler to oppose the old master. Apparently the announcement had the full approval of the York camp for the Roses went out and took both ends of a double bill from the Hagerstown Owls 5-0 and 12-2 to move within four and a half games of first place Lancaster. After Butch Schesler limited the Owls to five hits in the opener, his mates staged an almost unprecedented rally in the second, scoring 12 runs in the third frame, 10 of them coming after two were out.

Allentown Wins
The Allentown Fleetwings jumped into an early lead to defeat Lancaster 9-7 in a tilt that was halted by weather in the seventh. Cappa paced the Wings' attack with four hits in as many tries, including a homer that helped Croy gain the mound decision over Bowles.

SLAVE TO PURGATIVES FINDS FREEDOM!

Feels 20 Years Younger, He Says!

Everyone who has despaired of ever finding normal regularity should read this unsolicited letter:

"Six years ago, I was quite constipated. I'd taken many so-called 'cures', but it was the same old story. It seemed that each dose had to be stronger than the last. Then, I tried KELLOGG'S ALL-BRAN. Soon, I was 'regular' again, with none of the old gripping pain. In 10, 20, but feel younger than 20 years ago when I was a victim of common constipation." Mr. A. Eustfield, 426 S. Villa Avenue, Villa Park, Ill.

What's the secret of such reports of ALL-BRAN's wonderful results? It's simply this: Lack of certain cellulose elements in the diet is a common cause of constipation. Scientists say KELLOGG'S ALL-BRAN is a rich, natural source of these elements—which help the colonic flora do their job—lightening and fluffing the accumulated waste for easy, natural evacuation. ALL-BRAN is not a purgative! Not roughage that acts by "sweeping you out!" It's a gentle-acting, "regulating" food! Eat ALL-BRAN regularly. Drink plenty of water. See if you, too, don't find the relief you've dreamed of! Insist on the genuine ALL-BRAN! It is made only by Kellogg's in Battle Creek.

SPORTS ROUNDUP

By HUGH FULLERTON, JR.

New York, Aug. 5 (AP)—Betcha never knew this—a collection of odd and unimportant items culled from sports history:

FIFTH WHEEL

Connie Mack's famous "$100,000" infield was composed of five men—Stuffy McInnis, Eddie Collins, Jack Barry and Home Run Baker (the four you've heard about) and Danny Murphy, who cost Connie about $500. . . . Murphy arrived late for his first game with the A's on July 8, 1962, so Jud Castro played the first inning and got a hit. . . . Then Murphy turned up and smacked six consecutive blows, so his late arrival cost him a chance to get his name into the record books with the all-time leaders.

Y'S GUY

The fact that Wayne Johnson, who played 60 minutes of good football for Harvard against Yale last fall now is a Marine trainee and candidate for the Yale team reminds old-timers of the 1913 game between the Elis and the Johnnies.

F. J. O'Brien, Harvard end, scored a deliberate safety that day, thinking he was merely making a touchback. . . . Harvard won, so it was only a gag when O'Brien's teammates voted to award him his "Y."

SOUNDS FISHY

When the first team of Finnish athletes, including the great Hannes Kohlemainen, came to this country, Lawson Robertson escorted them on a trip to Canada. . . . Before entering a Pullman car in the New York station, the Finns all removed their shoes. . . . At lunch time someone brought out a suitcase big enough to hold a fiddle, extracted a wicked looking knife, a loaf of bread as long as the case, an equally large fish and sliced them down the middle for sandwiches. . . . By the time Paavo Nurmi followed their trail, the Finns had learned more about what can be done with an expense account.

BLOCK OFF THE OLD CHIP

George Chip, who bossed the middleweight division in 1913-14, probably was the only champion who lost his title while serving as a substitute. . . . George's kid brother, Joe, had given an unknown named Al McCoy a licking but when a return bout was arranged in Brooklyn, Joe got hurt in training. . . . The promoter thought it would be smart to get George to sub for his brother in a no-decision affair. . . . At the bell, Chip swarmed all over McCoy; his first assault failed to put him down and George stepped back to get his breath. . . . As he relaxed a moment, a punch came from nowhere. The fight was all over in just 45 seconds and McCoy was the new champion.

IT'S A GYP-SEE

Alex Robb of the Thoroughbred Racing associations dug up the yarn about Gypsy Lee, who picked a Derby winner for an English nobleman some 75 years ago. . . . Gypsy wrote "Blew Gown" on the race program and sure enough Sir Joseph Hawley's Blue Gown won the Epsom Derby. . . . Peeved because the nobleman criticized her spelling, Gypsy Lee then prophesied that no horse whose name began with "W" would win the Derby as long as she lived—and none did. . . . Gypsy Lee died in 1933 and next spring the gypsies who gather on Derby Day really unloaded their pockets to bet on Windsor Lad, owned by the Maharajah of Rajpipla. . . . Of course, the "W" horse won at odds better than 7 to 1.

POSTSCRIPT

If any of you folks can top these yarns, we'd like to hear about it—and maybe we'll get another column like this one.

New Shortstop To Join Phils Today

Pittsburgh, Aug. 5 (AP)—Ray Hamrick, promising 22-year-old shortstop the Phils purchased from Nashville of the Southern association, joins the Philadelphia club today in New York, President William T. Cox announced last night. Hamrick reportedly cost the Phils $25,000 in cash and infielder Charley Brewster, who reports to Nashville.

An Evening Thought

Despotism is often the effort of nature to cure herself from a worse disease.—Robert L. Lytton.

Just Folks

QUATRAINS

FISHERMAN'S LUCK
When fishing either lake or stream
I'm glad while to dote and dream,
But I'm not wholly pleased at night
If I come home without a bite.

TENDER SIDE

This to man's credit I relate,
When some his failings catalogue,
I've never known a man so great
He wouldn't stoop to pat a dog.

MODEST

How fine and how brave and how modest they are,
These boys who return from the battle zone far!

They tell how their comrades risk
all every day,
But never a word of themselves do they say.

WOMANLY TRAIT

Woman is that peculiar kind,
With that peculiar turn of mind,
What on her husband's desk may stay

She thinks she ought to throw away.

Today's Talk

THINGS REMEMBERED

This memory of ours is a choice inheritance. It plants something vital of ourselves in innumerable places as we journey through life. And every once in a while we can go back in memory and re-live the days of youth and the happy hours experienced in all phases.

I go back to the days when I used to walk five miles on a Monday morning to the farm where I worked as a boy, and remember the pleasant sensation of arriving home again of a Saturday night. And time and again in memory I lie upon my back in a meadow and watch some new bird build its nest or care for its young; and each time the event thrills me, for there is something to be learned from every happy creature in Nature.

Faces sometimes fade from our memory but the remembered voice does not. Often some other voice recalls that of one beloved. And we walk and talk with that one anew. Silent voices of the past, but ones that sound clear and dear to us. Something like taking up a book read long ago and reviewing it with all the sensations that once thrilled us—and new ones added.

Today I saw a dozen boys lined up, leaping into the water from a springboard. I became one of them as I watched from afar. Vividly my first experience came to me, and the many happy days after. I learned to swim. The mill pond, the race near the old mill, and the many companions of my youth flashed before me and I began recalling their names and characteristics. Things remembered are precious things and it is wise to keep them fresh through the years. It oils our understanding.

Remembered kindnesses are also a precious asset. Kindnesses rendered long, long ago by someone no more of this earth or of whose abode we are ignorant. A teacher, a neighbor, a chance acquaintance, or a valued friend. These remembrances hide in our heart and keep it warm when the chills of time and chance appear.

Someone has said that we were given memories that we might enjoy roses in December. Perhaps also that we might thrill to the joys of youth so long as we live!

Tomorrow Mr. Adams will talk on the subject: "And Daughters."

TWENTY YEARS AGO

Nation Mourns Sudden Death of Chief Executive Warren G. Harding, Twenty-ninth President of the United States: By Associated Press, San Francisco, Aug. 3.—A nation today mourns the passing of its leader.

In the early hours of last evening after a day, which had brought renewed hopes of recovery, death came suddenly and struck down Warren G. Harding with a stroke of cerebral apoplexy.

Mrs. Harding was reading aloud to the Chief Executive, when she noticed a shudder run through the frame of her husband. Brigadier General Sawyer and the two nurses, who were in the room, did all they could, yet availed nothing.

Coolidge Takes Oath of Office: Plymouth, Vt., Aug. 3.—In the little living room of his father's home here Calvin Coolidge, vice president, early today took the oath of President of the United States. The oath was administered by his father, John C. Coolidge, at 2:47 a. m., Eastern Standard Time. A telephone had been installed at the Coolidge farmhouse within an hour after word of the death of President Harding had been received and by communication with Washington the exact form of the oath was obtained.

Two Couples Licensed: Two marriage licenses were issued Wednesday afternoon by J. R. Hartman, clerk of the courts. The first to present themselves for the necessary papers were Howard Luther Plank, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. Roy Plank, Cumberland township, and Miss Ruth Marie Peters, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James A. Peters, of Fairfield. Following them came William Thomas Wenk, of Bendersville, and Mrs. Mary Catherine Starnier, also of Bendersville.

Wed at Fayetteville: Samuel R. Weikert, of Cashtown, and Miss Mary E. Cluck, of Mont Alto, were married on Saturday afternoon in Fayetteville at the parsonage of the Rev. Jay W. Yohe, pastor of the Mont Alto Sanitarium.

Wed at Parsonage: Miss Mary Della Black, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Calvin Black, Menallen township, and Dennis Elwood Warren, son of Mrs. Addie Warren, Menallen township, were married Saturday by the Rev. Harry Daniels at the parsonage of the Methodist Episcopal church, Baltimore street.

Downpour Halts All Road Travel: Traffic in at least three directions from Gettysburg was impossible on Monday afternoon, as a result of the rain storm, which reached cloudburst proportions during the day. Tourists en route to York, Harrisburg, Littlestown and Emmitsburg found swollen creeks barring their progress. Reports from the direction of Chambersburg indicate the Lincoln Highway west, remained opened.

Streets in town were flooded and in some places the water was running in sheets from curb to curb. At the foot of Baltimore street hill, the water stood a foot deep. Stalled automobiles were numerous.

J. P. Oyler Made Head of Party: J. Price Oyler, York street, was elected chairman of the Adams County Republican committee on Wednesday evening, succeeding Robert C. Miller, who held that office since 1914, and who presented his resignation to the committee. The candidacy of Mr. Oyler was offered by Roy E. Zinn, county treasurer, after the name of Charles W. Gardner had been presented. Mr. Gardner declined the nomination, giving as his reason press of business. The new county chairman was swept into office by unanimous vote.

Town Soon Learns of Harding Death: So far as could be learned Edgar L. Deardorff was the first person in town to learn that Mr. Harding had passed away. Mr. Deardorff was listening to a radio concert being given in Chicago, Ill., when suddenly the program was interrupted and announcement made that President Harding had succumbed to an apoplectic stroke in San Francisco. This announcement came just as the clock at Glatfelter Hall struck 11, according to Mr. Deardorff.

In the midst of a selection the Majestic Eight Orchestra, playing in Center Square for a block dance, under the auspices of the American Legion, was stopped and announcement was made to dancers that President Harding had died. Joy turned to grief and the dance was at once called off.

MISCELLANY

New York (AP)—The New York committee of the National War Fund reports the following contributions to the fund's various relief agencies:

A polar bear skin, an old gray mare, a set of surgical instruments once owned by a German physician, and a set of bridgework.

FRONT LINE CASUALTY

London (AP)—Saluting may now be added to the perils of war. WAC Private Betty Hurley, 23, of Salem, Ore., met an officer on the steps at a WAC replacement depot somewhere in England and gave him a snappy salute. Then she lost her balance, fell, and broke an arm.

BIG HELP

Franklin, Ind. (AP)—The USO club did the rest when Pvt. Robert W. Fuchs of Camp Atterbury, Ind., and Miss Mildred I. Ewing, of Franklin, Pa., stopped in to ask where they could find a florist and a justice of the peace. Within 30 minutes the club staff

BEER REVENUE IS INCREASING

Harrisburg, August 5 (AP)—Taxes paid on beer in Pennsylvania continued to climb the first six months of this year even though consumers in many communities were finding it difficult to get favorite brews.

The State Revenue Department collected $4,202,554 in malt beverage and volunteers had decorated the rooms, moved in an altar from a nearby mortuary, summoned a minister and a pianist and made corsages out of table bouquets.

After the ceremony a reception was held for Pvt. and Mrs. Fuchs.

Wilbert H. Beachy, new deputy revenue secretary and chief of collections, reported, however, many out-of-state breweries have stopped shipping beer into Pennsylvania "because they can sell all they make right at home."

He added that a number of big brewers, in writing the department for credit on stamps and bottle

48-HOUR WEEK DESIGNATED IN CHAMBERSBURG

Philadelphia, Aug. 5 (AP)—A mandatory 48-hour work week will become effective in the Chambersburg area on Aug. 16 to "alleviate labor shortages that are impeding the war program," Frank L. McNamee, regional director of the War Manpower Commission, announced today.

McNamee said the longer work week is designed to allow some firms to release workers who can be absorbed immediately into war production and to permit other firms to reduce or avoid new hiring.

The order applies to firms with eight or more employees, whether or not they are engaged in essential activity, McNamee said. It does not apply to agricultural workers, employees of the state or other political divisions or of foreign governments.

Certify Compliance

Provisions of the order also exclude workers under the age of 16 and those who "on account of other employment, household responsibilities or physical limitations are not available for full-time work." All affected employers are required, whether or not they are able to release workers, to submit forms certifying compliance by Aug. 16.

Employers who are able to release some employees are to submit a schedule of release to WMC area Director Harold J. Mehl, whose office is at Lancaster. The longer work week will become effective in these plants as soon as the director can place the released employees in essential activity.

Wages Not Involved

The 48-hour week will become effective in all of Franklin county, Shippensburg borough and Shippensburg township in Cumberland county, McNamee said. He pointed out that the WMC has no authority or responsibility in connection with wage questions involved.

McNamee said that in some cases the WMC area director may prescribe a minimum work week of less than 48 hours because of "impracticability" of the longer hours in view of the nature of the firm's operations, or because the extended hours would not contribute to the reduction of labor requirements or would conflict with federal, state or local laws or regulations listing hours of work.

DIES OF INJURIES

Blythe, Calif., August 5 (AP)—Injuries he received July 4 in the crash of a four-engine heavy bomber proved fatal—Tuesday to Sgt. Joseph C. Hinebaugh, 27, son of Mr. and Mrs. Grover C. Hinebaugh, of St. Michaels, Pennsylvania, Army officials announced.

FATTEN TURKEYS FOR HUGE ARMY ORDERS IN FALL

Harrisburg, Aug. 5 (AP)—Pennsylvania turkey growers are speeding up fattening of an expected record crop of the traditional American fowl to insure Thanksgiving and Christmas drumsticks for American soldiers and sailors overseas.

With a government-imposed embargo on civilian sales of turkeys until the Army's order for 10,000,000 pounds are filled, growers aimed at getting their birds in shape for market two weeks ahead of schedule this year.

The commonwealth, which in 1942 ranked ninth in the nation in the value of turkeys sold, was expected to produce 1,173,000 fowls this year compared with 1,020,000 in 1942, when all previous records were broken. Reports on how well the birds weathered the spring hatch, however, are still incomplete.

Big Army Order

The state Department of Agriculture said the Army, which will buy for all the armed forces, has asked growers throughout the nation to have 2,000,000 pounds of turkeys ready for market between Sept. 1 and 15 and another 2,000,000 by Oct. 1. The remaining 6,000,000 pounds will be bought in October before civilian sales will be permitted again, the department added.

E. J. Lawless, Jr., of the department's poultry division, said turkey growers, who usually put their birds on a heavy corn diet the last two weeks to turn them into "nice, plump fowls" face a near-famine in corn feed, very little being available in the state.

He explained growers will have to substitute wheat, barley and oats.

Fancy Prices Paid For Used Automobiles

Kansas City, Aug. 5 (AP)—Flush war workers of the mid-west and southwest are paying as much as $400 to $500 more for used cars than they did for pre-war new automobiles.

And the cars are selling, despite gasoline and tire rationing. Every Wednesday from $175,000 to $200,000 worth of used cars roll through the but warned against feeding of new wheat because of the danger of causing bloating. New corn harvested this year also will be too late for the speeded-up fattening process.

The official added that another problem facing growers is the fact cold weather, not due in Pennsylvania until late October, is needed to get turkeys into the best condition.

auction market operated by J. E. Colvin and R. L. Hamilton.

"Big-money dealers" bring the automobiles in from the ration-bound east, auction them to smaller dealers from a dozen states who peddle them to pocket-jingling customers in their home towns, Colvin explained.

For example:

A 1941 coupe, which retailed new for $926, was auctioned to a small dealer for $1,250 yesterday—$324 more, 11,000 miles later.

The dealer will mark it up to $1,450 or $1,500 and get it, Colvin indicated.

News And Advertisements Of Interest From Emmitsburg And Vicinity

Officers' Children Buy Bonds, Stamps Instead Of Popsicles To Help Daddy

Popsicles are the only things that threaten the patriotism of Margaret Rosalie, Sara Radford and George D. Paxson, Jr., in carrying out the instructions of their father, Capt. G. D. Paxson, Emmitsburg, to purchase war bonds and stamps with every spare penny.

The youngsters, who last saw their father over a year ago, have been purchasing $150 worth of war bonds each month with money sent them for that purpose by their father, who is stationed in England.

While the Paxson children confess that sometimes it entails quite a mental struggle to pass the ice cream stores on the way to the post office, they can be found each month asking Emmitsburg postmaster Lewis H. Stoner to "stab a Jap in the back" by selling them some war stamps. Their mother usually purchases bonds with most of the money, allowing each of the youngsters the pleasure of buying stamps to "watch the war bonds grow."

In National Guard

Captain Paxson, who 18 years ago joined the national guard of Maryland at Frederick as a buck private, worked his way up through the ranks as a national guard member until in February, 1940, when the guard was called into active duty with the army, he had reached the rank of second lieutenant.

Every letter he sends home contains the admonition "have the youngsters bought their bonds?" And the answer to that question is "yes," Mrs. Paxson told a Gettysburg Times reporter today.

"It makes me see red when someone says they aren't buying bonds," Mrs. Paxson asserted. "It's the most important thing in the world. The children gave their father to the war and they know how important it is to buy bonds that he may be back as soon as possible."

Besides the purchases made by the children, Mrs. Paxson has been saving as much as she can from the allowance given her for the upkeep of the house and family to buy bonds.

Bonds For Education

The bonds are being set aside for the education of the youngsters when they become a little older. Margaret is seven, Sarah, five, and George Junior, three. Little George can inject, "Daddy say buy bonds," into most conversations, thus doing his share by the family project to urge the sale of bonds when possible, as well as to buy them.

They Buy Bonds To Beat Axis

Three children who believe implicitly that the best way to win the war is to buy war bonds and stamps are Sarah, George, Jr., and Margaret Paxson, children of Captain and Mrs. George D. Paxson, of Emmitsburg. Captain Paxson has been sending $150 a month to the youngsters to be used to purchase war bonds and the youngsters each month enjoy their trip to the post office to buy war stamps and bonds.

Sarah will admit to preferring play to work any day of the week, but she is of the opinion that "Bonds and stamps kill Japs and help daddy." Margaret, better known as Peggy, can give more reasons for buying bonds than many members of county bond committees.

But all of them agree with Peggy when she says—

"Sometimes you look at the money you have and then you look at a popsicle sign and it's just a tiny bit hard to go on to the post office to buy the stamps. But Daddy wouldn't like it if we bought popsicles instead of helping him."

STATE REVENUE DROPS IN JULY

Harrisburg, August 4 (AP)—General state revenue last month fell only $1,145,754 below the figure for July, 1942, despite tax reductions, a report by Auditor General F. Clair Ross showed today.

Revenue and receipts for July reached $8,885,298 compared with $10,031,053 for July of last year and Ross pointed out the 1942 figure included a $1,000,000 transfer from state liquor stores profits. No transfer was included in the 1943 total.

"The greatest revenue decline was in corporate net income taxes which showed a decrease of $749,522," Ross said. "These taxes this year yielded only $586,691 while last July they totaled $1,336,213."

"However, offsetting this loss was an increase of $301,258 in bank and trust shares taxes, $314,168 being collected this July as against $13,910 in the corresponding month last year."

The emergency taxes on cigarettes, gasoline, personal property, corporate net income, liquor, bank and trust shares and gross receipts and loans decreased by $723,486 which Ross said "somewhat reflects the effect of tax reduction." The inheritance tax brought in $1,246,868 in 1943 and $1,006,470 in 1942.

Ross said "Institutional reimbursements for this July showed a decline of $194,509 with collections at $244,460, as compared with nearly double this revenue for last July when $438,969 was reported."

The orbit of the earth around the sun is not circular, but egg-shaped.

Cadets Vote For Emmitsburg Picnic

The cadets at Mt. St. Mary's were polled by Lt. James D. Wolfe to learn their wishes between a dance or a picnic for the coming weekend, 110 voting for a picnic and 90 for a dance. As a result of this vote the committee will hold a picnic at Kumps Dam, Sunday afternoon for the cadets who will assemble at the Firemen's field (time to be determined later) where the ladies will be waiting with baskets filled with non-rationed food, Maryland chicken assuming the principal role. Transportation to and from the picnic grounds will be by hay-rack wagons drawn by horses.

Community Meeting

Mrs. Robert Feitz, general chairman, has called a community meeting at the Legion hall for 8 p. m., Thursday, August 12th, for a general discussion of ways and means of improving upon the activities of the war activities of the committee. It is thought that the Recreation Committee can be made a part of the between divergent interests.

Send 215 Letters To Folks In Service

The Emmitsburg Lions club mailed 215 letters to the men and women in the service from the Emmitsburg district on July 23rd. Acknowledgments are being received from all parts of the globe. The club has prepared a large leather binder wherein the monthly letter to the service men and women and the letters from them will be preserved for posterity—not only interesting reading now, but will be doubly so later on in the life of the soldier—men and women.

More Gas Granted To Haul Workers

Pittsburgh, Aug. 5 (AP)—The Pittsburgh district OPA announced yesterday that war workers who haul an average of three and one-half persons to and from work are eligible for extra gasoline rations to offset the cut in values of "B" and "C" coupons which has been in effect since June 2.

One hundred sixty-eight district industries now have share-the-ride clubs of employee members whose automobiles carry an average of three and one-half persons or more and all such participating employees may secure extra coupons from their local ration boards, the OPA explained.

The OPA pointed out, however, that applications for extra rations must be certified by the transportation committee of the plant where the applicant works.

NEW POOL ON MOUNT CAMPUS

The largest outdoor swimming pool in the Emmitsburg vicinity is being completed at Mt. St. Mary's college. The pool, which will cost about $15,000 when it is completed, is being constructed on the site of St. Anthony's lake, long a familiar part of the scene of the college campus.

The pool which is 150 feet long and 130 feet wide, ranges in depth from 4 feet to 12 feet. It is to be used for swimming training by the naval air cadets and sailors at the Mount. Work on the walls and bottom of the pool has been nearly completed and sand and grass beaches are being constructed. Later a bath house will probably be built near the pool.

The lake which the pool replaces dates back to 1830 when the students of the Mount under the direction of Prof. Anthony Hermange dammed up a small stream running through the college campus. The water was muddy and was seldom used for swimming, but was a favorite place for canoeing. In 1942 work started on the construction of the outdoor pool which has concrete sides and bottom. The pool is about one-half the size of the former lake.

COLLECT $121 FOR U. S. CADETS

With the advent of Naval students at Mt. Saint Mary's college, the desirability of providing entertainment for the cadets when on liberty over the week-end was presented to a body of citizens at a community meeting held at the American Legion hall by Lt. James D. Wolfe, Resident Naval Officer, Mt. Saint Mary's college.

The Emmitsburg War Recreation committee came into existence and committees were formed a short time ago. The Francis X Elder Post of the American Legion offered the use of its home at 101 North Seton avenue to the committee for any activities in connection with the entertainment of the cadets.

As a means of financing the activities of the committee the citizens of the community were solicited and $121.35 was collected.

Miss Genevieve Kugler, Mrs. Clyde Eyer, Miss Leanna Franklin, Miss Mary Jane Matthews, Miss Charlotte Miller, Mrs. Murphy Beale, Miss Hilda Topper, Mrs. Eugene Cramer, Miss Irene Shorb, Mrs. Donald Stoner, Miss Unice Bouey, Miss Ann Codori, Miss Mary Arnold were the solicitors.

Most of the dinosaurs in the early days on earth are believed to have been vegetarians.

Corn is now used in manufacturing cloth for soldiers' uniforms.

CHAPLAIN BUILDS HIS OWN CHAPEL

Captain Michael Lyons, a familiar figure in Emmitsburg while he attended Mt. St. Mary's Seminary, is proving that army chaplains can produce chapels out of nearly anything.

Chaplain Lyons, in a recent letter to a friend in Emmitsburg, stated that he had built a chapel for interdenominational use at Port Moresby, New Guinea, using only native material and doing most of the work himself.

The chapel is made of eucalyptus wood which has been blackened to defeat tropical termites. It is about 90 feet long and seats 300 persons on its white varnished wooden benches. There are no walls and the floor is nothing more than the fine white sand of the beach on which it was built. The background for the altar is a white rayon towing target used in gunnery practice.

After celebrating the first mass in the new structure, Chaplain Lyons presented it for use by all faiths at an interdenominational service.

$106 Netted At Benefit Festival

Miss Helen Frailey, Miss Mary Gene Mathews, and Mrs. F. P. Newbury organized and conducted a card festival at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence G. Frailey, 400 West Main street, on the evening of July 29th. It was successful both in attendance and from a financial standpoint, realizing $106.25 clear of all expenses for the benefit of the Emmitsburg War Recreation Committee.

During the evening 130 persons visited the yard which was decorated with lights. Refreshments were served.

The committee has a balance of $166.60 after paying $58 for music and $3 for piano tuning.

MURDER IN TIN

By CARL A. PETERSON

Chapter 25

I shut the door of my room and Sam Taggard sat down.

"Are you engaged to my daughter like the papers claim?" I felt him examining me carefully as if he were, in fact, only the father of a marriageable daughter.

"No! Where'd you come from?" I said.

"Just newspaper gossip, eh? Is there anything between you two?"

"No. But—well—"

"So there is something between you?" He shook his head. "Damn that Johnson!" He gazed at me wearily. I noticed that his face was seamed with wrinkles. The last six months had taken its toll from him.

"My daughter," he said, "poor kid." There was no fury in his eyes now. "How about a truce? I need help. Let me warn you I'm not carrying a guide post to the tin on me. So it's no use arresting me. I want my kid and it's not going to be easy. Johnson's smart."

His free hand tore into his hair. "Johnson wants me, wants me dead. Has to have me dead or the tin's no asset to him—"

"Lathrop—"

"Don't bother me about Lathrop. It's my kid I care about. Don't you understand what you read in the newspapers? They say: Your kid's gone and she'll stay gone unless you stay away from the Government boys. They say: If you want your kid, you play ball with us."

I was trying to appraise the potentials of this development in view of our main object: Tin plus the apprehension of the enemy ring operating against us. I thought that if I cooperated with Sam Taggard, that might develop into a second pincer move. The logic for a second pincer was overpowering. If we had hoped to use the Gestapo to get hold of Sam Taggard and his tin, why couldn't we use Sam Taggard now to get hold of the Gestapo?

"But what of the tin?"

"I haven't got it. See here, do it my way—"

"Why should we?"

"If you arrest me what do you suppose'll happen to Lila? Johnson'd kill her once he heard I was in the hands of the Government. Do it my way. How'd that Johnson get out of the Opalo?"

I told him what I knew. We had found out later that Johnson, Chevalle and Lila had gone no further than the adjoining room. Room Eleven, previously engaged by Chevalle under an assumed name. In Room Eleven, a concealed wall button had opened a way into a passageway which had led to a series of antique iron ladders.

They had descended down these ladders into the basement and had then walked underground for almost a hundred yards through a four foot high tunnel braced with rotting timbers. It was only after we had had the building plans and had methodically explored all the walls, ceilings, and floors that were not average that we had hit upon the get-away.

"The first thing we have to do is to get in touch with Chevalle," Taggard said.

"How?"

He told me. Late that night I took a cab out of fashionable Mexico City to the address Taggard had given me—a small restaurant presided over by a man in a dirty apron. When I got there a few customers were still drinking and smoking.

I waited for the man in the dirty apron to come to my table. This restaurant, as I now knew, and not the Club Opalo, was the exchange, the clearing-house between the Japanese espionage and Sam Taggard.

Smiling, the proprietor approached me. He was, I knew a member of the Mexican fascist Gold shirts.

I said "Naranja." That meant orange. It was also the password or rather the first part of the password. Sam Taggard's information had been quite detailed.

"Naranja," the proprietor repeated. He wasn't smiling now. He looked over his shoulder at his customers. Then he said, "Llevar naranjas a Valencia." He was using European Spanish. What he had said was the Spanish equivalent of carrying coals to Newcastle—to carry oranges to Valencia. He peered at me hard, waiting for the rest of the password.

"Se me lleva indicado que vende articulos ingleses," I said. Which meant: I am told that you sell English goods.

"Si, Senor." He excused himself. He brought me a glass of wine and again excused himself.

It was almost an hour and a half later on my wrist watch when he returned. Under his breath he said something in Spanish. I didn't understand at first, but then I gathered that I was to go outside.

Outside, a roadster had parked in front of the restaurant. The proprietor tapped on the roadster's hood and was gone. I peered at the driver who flung open the door. I got inside. The driver shoved the car into gear.

The motor hummed and we were speeding down the street. I thought that I was a damned fool to trust Sam Taggard. But then I wasn't so sure of being such a fool. The Gestapo didn't want me. They wanted Sam Taggard's tin. But suppose they decided I had information that I didn't possess? It was a risky Comandante-like venture I had volunteered myself into. The reasons weren't obscure either. I was not only proving to myself that I was a Government man with courage equal to that of a buck private, I was proving that I would take a chance to help her.

NO REASON FOR EXTRA SESSION OF LEGISLATURE

By RALPH E. WALLIS
Harrisburg, Aug. 5 (AP)—Pennsylvania legislative leaders, with few exceptions, were agreed today that broad war powers held by Governor Martin will forestall any need for a special session of the Legislature this year or next for the first time since 1931.

The solons met here to approve the chief executive's action in suspending a law requiring two automobile license tags. Martin had ordered use of one plate instead to save metal.

Commenting on the possibility of a special session to meet war problems—the commonwealth has had nine "extras" in the last 12 years—Senator Weldon B. Heyburn, Republican floor leader from Delaware county, said:

"The meeting here is conclusive proof that the war powers bill obviates the necessity of calling a special session."

Rep. Reuben E. Cohen, Democratic floor leader from Philadelphia, however, declared "the action of the Governor on any law will not prevent a special session if he wants one."

His Democratic colleague, Senator B. B. McGinnis, minority floor leader from Pittsburgh, said "this procedure will avoid almost any occasion for a special session except tax reduction."

"At the present time it does not appear that it will be necessary to call a special session but if the war should cease in 1943 or 1944 and new problems arise, now unforeseen, a special session is not beyond the realm of possibility," asserted Senator Charles H. Ealy, president pro tempore from Somerset.

CONSTIPATED?

Don't Force! Don't Strain!

Thus Risking Hemorrhoids!

Here's one right and proper way to moisten hard dry passages and secure more gentle "easy" movements. 15 minutes before breakfast, drink a glass of hot water to which one teaspoonful of Kruschen Salts has been added. While you are eating breakfast the hot water and Kruschen will be feeding moisture to those hard, dry passages. They become soft, moist, easier to expel. No need to strain and thus risk painful rectal irritation. Usually within 30 minutes wastes are expelled smoothly and gently. You feel gloriously fresh again.

Take only as directed. Try Kruschen for 5 days for you can so regulate the dose as to bring about that "easy" movement such as you have long desired. Don't delay—you can get Kruschen Salts at any drug store.

From where I sit . . .
by Joe Marsh

Pete Swanson fancies himself as an armchair strategist. Sometimes he gets so tangled up, I just can't resist tryin' to straighten him out.

For instance, the other day he was waxing indignant about our soldiers being allowed to buy beer right in camp. Said that was just coddling the troops and would ruin discipline.

I told him the actual facts had already been established by a study the Government made. Their report said chaplains and the military police agree that instead of ruining discipline, 3.2 beer sold in Army camps provides our soldiers with a mild form of relaxation without impairing their efficiency.

Well, Pete allowed that the chaplains and military police are a pretty good authority on what's right for soldiers. I've noticed lately he's been confining his remarks to the broader phases of strategy.
